Quality of Excellent Art Events Rubric

In order to create magical art events, teachers must consider the event purpose, family and school engagement and participation in the event, and the event set-up and communication. This rubric is used to evaluate the quality of our school art events.

	Event Purpose	Family and School Engagement and Participation	Event Set-Up and Communication
Excellence Standards	The reason behind the event is clear and concise. The event is meaningful, transparent and original. The event allows families to tap into a deeper level of artistic thinking and experience. The event allows families the opportunity to look beyond just the art-making process.	90%-100% of families are participating in the event. The event is magical, and engagement is high. Families are having fun, and it is clear that they would participate in a future event with this teacher. The teacher has created a space of joy and wonder, allowing families to feel safe and comfortable making art.	The event set-up is detailed and pristine. You can tell that the teacher thoughtfully and articulately planned their event, thinking of everything they would need to make this event successful. Materials are abundant. There is scholar artwork displayed at the event, including the artist name, essential questions, and lesson objectives. The event is heavily communicated on Social Media and sent out as a reminder to families. The event shows incredible effort.
